Not illustrated. 1879 Excerpt: .able, willing and strong enough to combat and resist the dense hosts of opposing ignorance, or the gradual surrender of political dignity and national self-respect. COURSE OF STUDY IN HIGH SCHOOLS. I have so often and so fully discussed this question in previous reports, as well as in educational Lectures and Essays, that I have little to add to it in this connection. An essential misapprehension, not only of the proper disposition or arrangement of studies, but a misconception of the end and purpose of study, is one of the saddest educational indications of our era. With the progress of materialism in science, sensualism in philosophy, and utilitarianism in every phase of modern life, the fundamental truth that education deals directly with minds, only indirectly with temporal vocations or callings, and that its objective point is pure culture, has become almost a tradition of a long...
